

About Your Facilitators

Debra Em Wilson is a sought after presenter known for her humor, wisdom and practical solutions to behavior and learning challenges. Debra is a reading specialist, author, and experienced teacher of all grade levels whose focus is on supporting children, regardless of what label they might have. Debra has a Master's Degree in Education, with a clinical reading option. Her teaching credentials include Biology, Physical Education, Multiple Subjects, English Language Learner, and Reading and Language Arts Specialist.

Marcia Carter, owner of Oroville Gymnastics Sports Academy and early childhood educator joins Debra in sharing her expertise and over 40 years working with children of all ages and teaching at the college level. Her Rolling into Reading program focuses on children with special needs in her community.

"This program has made a dramatic difference in the behavior and academic readiness of the children at my center."

Minute Moves for the Classroom

Minute Moves for Self-Regulation and Brain Integration: informative overview of S'cool Moves principles and activities, all participants receive FREE Minute Moves posters and learn 10 Minute Moves routines.

What will I learn?

Underlying causes of behavior challenges • support struggling learners • provide fun, minute transitions • "plug in" instead of "pull out" • support diverse student populations • motivate the unmotivated • integrate stations into your program • use heavy work blending bands • minute routines that really focus children • music routines and so much more!

S'cool Moves is now used in New York city schools and all across the country with great success! S'cool Moves is part of many districts' Response to Intervention 3 tier model.
